a major reappraisal of crime and punishment in america the huge prison buildup of the past four decades has few defenders today yet reforms to reduce the number of people in u s jails and prisons have been remarkably modest meanwhile a carceral state has sprouted in the shadows of mass imprisonment extending its reach far beyond the prison gate it includes not only the country s vast archipelago of jails and prisons but also the growing range of penal punishments and controls that lie in the never never land between prison and full citizenship from probation and parole to immigrant detention felon disenfranchisement and extensive lifetime restrictions on sex offenders as it sunders families and communities and reworks conceptions of democracy rights and citizenship this ever widening carceral state poses a formidable political and social challenge in this book marie gottschalk examines why the carceral state with its growing number of outcasts remains so tenacious in the united states she analyzes the shortcomings of the two dominant penal reform strategies one focused on addressing racial disparities the other on seeking bipartisan race neutral solutions centered on reentry justice reinvestment and reducing recidivism in this bracing appraisal of the politics of penal reform gottschalk exposes the broader pathologies in american politics that are preventing the country from solving its most pressing problems including the stranglehold that neoliberalism exerts on public policy she concludes by sketching out a promising alternative path to begin dismantling the carceral state pandemic response and the cost of lockdowns brings the vast analytical apparatus of the humanities and social sciences to the task of critically analysing the political decisions taken in 2020 21 the global response to the covid 19 pandemic left little time for critical debate about the impact of lockdowns across the world governments claimed to follow the science but they rarely paid attention to the humanities and social sciences indeed the absence of these perspectives is symptomatic of a longer term trend in the marginalisation of the humanities and social sciences in policymaking and public debate this book exposes the tragic consequences of this omission in 2020 21 and demonstrates the potential for a different path in the future a path in which we pay attention to power complexity and our biases the authors establish what these disciplines have to offer in a global emergency and how we can ensure they help us avoid the mistakes of 2020 21 in the future this original and interdisciplinary book will be of great interest to students scholars and researchers throughout the humanities and social sciences including the fields of philosophy sociology anthropology law political science and history as well as relevant policymakers all aspects of feeding and nourishing people growing harvesting packaging processing transporting marketing and consuming food are part of the food system even before the covid 19 pandemic food systems faced many challenges such as hunger increases which affected up to 811 million people as of 2020 while healthy diets were unaffordable for at least 3 billion people more than 80 of the population affected by hunger and 95 of people unable to afford a healthy diet were found in asia and africa transformation of the global food system is clearly needed if we wish to embed equity sustainability and health as priorities in food provision and consumption some of these transformations will be facilitated through new technologies while others will require public policy shifts changes in the private agro food industry actions by civil society and behavioral changes by individuals in this dynamic context technology actors and the consumers they serve sit at an important nexus within the food system and have the potential to make decisions that cut across the challenges and opportunities to improve sustainable food system outcomes although food security has improved in developed countries many countries particularly low to middle income countries lmic suffer from significant food insecurity challenges in addition food production accessibility and availability have been further impacted due to the covid 19 outbreak causing growing global concerns regarding food security especially within the most vulnerable communities moreover the transformation of food systems for addressing healthy nutrition food insecurity and public health issues is a global concern food security and nutrition systems are directly related to human well being and global stability particularly in a time when diets transition toward increased reliance upon processed foods increased fast food intake high consumption of edible oils and sugar sweetened beverages lack of physical activities and increased lifestyles worldwide these changes in lifestyle continue to contribute to the growing pandemic of non communicable diseases such as obesity diabetes hypertension and cardiovascular diseases are clearly noticed across the globe the study of nutrition systems food security and the roles of technological advances especially in Imic is considered the major factor in understanding food transition and population health physical inactivity threatens Imic public health as it is a prime behavioral risk factor associated with major non communicable diseases such as coronary heart disease type 2 diabetes and breast and colon cancer its long term impacts increasingly burden national economies decreasing its prevalence is paramount toward decreasing premature mortality and restoring healthy populations in its most recent iteration of a global action plan for the prevention of non communicable diseases the world health organization established voluntary global targets to reduce physical inactivity by 10 currently limited published systematic analysis of physical inactivity prevalence among muslim majority countries exists existing literature is concentrated on arab countries which represent less than half of all muslim nations to date however pan islamic physical inactivity data have not been reported doing so can potentially galvanize religion specific agencies e g islamic relief worldwide organization of islamic cooperation to support efforts aimed at decreasing physical inactivity the nationwide lockdown in 2020 to curb the spread of covid 19 left millions of migrant labourers without jobs food and shelter desperate and helpless most took to the road embarking on the long often fatal journey home ritesh ashish ram babu sonu krishna sandeep and mukesh migrants from bihar undertook a similar journey on their bicycles that lasted for seven days and seven nights their harrowing trip from ghaziabad uttar pradesh to their hometown of saharsa as they braved police lathis and insults and battled hunger exhaustion and fear was documented by national award winning filmmaker vinod kapri 1232 km is a story of the extraordinary courage of seven men in the face of tremendous odds third edition of the classic bestseller we work hard to earn our money but regardless of how much we earn the money worry never goes away bills rent emis medical costs vacations kids education and somewhere at the back of the head the niggling fear of being underprepared for our own retirement wouldn t it be wonderful if our money worked for us just as we work hard for it what if we had a proven system to identify dud investment schemes what if we could just plug seamlessly into a simple jargon free plan to get more value out of our money for tomorrow and have a super good life today as well india s most trusted name in personal finance monika halan offers you a feet on the ground system to build financial security not a get rich quick guide this book provides you a smarter way to live your dream life rather than stay worried about the right investment or perfect insurance unlike many personal finance books let s talk money is written specifically for you keeping the indian context in mind the explosion that tore through the deepwater horizon drilling rig last april 20 as the rig s crew completed drilling the exploratory macondo well deep under the waters of the gulf of mexico began a human economic and environmental disaster eleven crew members died and others were seriously injured as fire engulfed and ultimately destroyed the rig and although the nation would not know the full scope of the disaster for weeks the first of more than four million barrels of oil began gushing uncontrolled into the gulf threatening livelihoods precious habitats and even a unique way of life a treasured american landscape already battered and degraded from years of mismanagement faced yet another blow as the oil spread and washed ashore five years after hurricane katrina the nation was again transfixed seemingly helpless as this new tragedy unfolded in the gulf the costs from this one industrial accident are not yet fully counted but it is already clear that the impacts on the region s natural systems and people were enormous and that economic losses total tens of billions of dollars page vi of online resource it is often said that a crisis is a terrible thing to waste allowing for progress that might not be accomplished in a saner atmosphere mass incarceration is the usa s current crisis and we should exploit this opportunity to reduce unnecessary imprisonment but in order to move beyond symbolic sound bites to achieve real and lasting progress we need more nuanced discussions of the challenges and a thoughtfully planned effort to overcome them fortunately a new book by university of pennsylvania political scientist marie gottschalk takes us past the broad outlines of debate to explore the sobering complexities inherent in prison reform she doubts that current progressive narratives will be enough to roll back the penalties of the 1980s and envisions a very different path forward most importantly she reminds us of the enormity of our task
